

Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Heavy rain at first, becoming drier later.

Today:

A wet morning with outbreaks of heavy and persistent rain, steadily easing although remaining cold and damp across northern parts in the afternoon. Brighter skies will develop across southern and western parts of the region where it will become mild. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:

Mainly dry through the early evening before another spell of heavy rain arrives and clears soon after midnight. Skies will then become clearer again with scattered showers. Rather mild. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:

Mainly dry and bright on Friday morning with sunny spells and a few isolated showers. Turning cloudier in the afternoon with occasional rain and drizzle. Feeling colder later. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Cold but generally dry and sunny through the weekend and Monday with widespread overnight frosts. There remains the possibility of some light snow on Sunday night.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.